Dear David,

I write to you as chair of Trustees with a very humble and grateful thankyou from the entire board. We were so delighted to receive your email and feel very blessed that your community see the value and impact of the work that Voices is tasked with.

To date, our one play alone - Kindness: A Legacy of the Holocaust (the verbatim story of Susan Pollack OBE) has reached over 35,000 students and continues to tour across the UK. We are now moving forward with our next work - the story of Harry Olmer OBE as you may have seen on the BBC (Drama retells 13-year-old girl's Auschwitz survival - BBC News) or in the European Jewish Congress' newsletters ("Voices of the Holocaust" will commemorate HMD at the UK's largest Jewish school - European Jewish Congress). We'll be delighted to use this incredibly generous donation either to support this project or to engage more schools with Kindness as your community prefers?

Perhaps we could speak about approaching schools in Nottingham that members' children attend to help support their Holocaust education and counter any antisemitism that may have been experienced in these challenging times? If there is someone in the team there who would like to discuss that please do let me know - it would be lovely to use this additional funding to impact NLS's immediate schools' communities if possible.

In the meantime, I am ccing Cara into this as she will be able to share with you our bank account details. And, once again, we thank you with all our hearts for this generous donation to support this essential work.

With warmest wishes,
Cate and the Voices tribe x
